Y-Day Concert Will Be Free; Unique Talent Show Sated

By Janis Roadseth
Universe Staff Writer

The Y-Day concert, starting the New York Rock and Roll Ensemble, is free to the student body, announced Reed Halladay, Vice President of Social Activities.

"After surveying the Social Office budget and talking with Y-day chairman, Dwight Inouye, and our advisors, we decided to give the student body the opportunity to hear this exciting group free of charge," Halladay commented.

Those with tickets may go to the Wilkinson Center business office and get their money refunded.

Distribution of the free tickets takes place in the Reception Center of the Wilkinson Center beginning at 8 a.m. Friday. Activity cards are required. Deadline for both refund and pickup of tickets is 5 p.m. Friday.

BLOCK SEATING

Block seating is still available if the person can show sufficient proof that he is a representative of the group and that all the tickets will be used.

"The Social Office feels that by opening this concert more students will be able to see the NYR&R perform," Halladay remarked.

For those unfamiliar with the NYR&R, the group presents a new type of rock sound.

Three of the members attended the Juilliard School of Music, which makes it possible for them to achieve their distinct sound.

"Brandenburg," the ensemble's newest release, is a take off on

Bach's "Brandenburg Concerto."

Starting time for the concert is 8 p.m. Friday in the Smith Fieldhouse.

"Encore '69: Circus of Sights and Sound," is scheduled for Saturday in the Smith Fieldhouse at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Under the auspices of the ASBYU Culture Office, this is expected to be the most unique show of the year, featuring the best talent of '68-'69, according to Steve Hunlow, Vice President of Culture.

Free popcorn and free balloons will be distributed to those attending.

A circus flavor is planned complete with three rings and something going on in each ring simultaneously.

Set design for the extravaganza is by Shelby R. Seem III. "This set will be the most elaborate set I have designed for the Fieldhouse. It will be in keeping with the theme of the show-circus. The stage will be set with a carousel and a circus tent effect," commented Seem.

Acts included are the Sounds of Freedom, Cynnamon Stick, the A Capella choir, International Folk Dancers and the Gymnastics team.

STUDENT PRACTICES "WHEELIE" FOR Y-DAY GYMKHANA

Part of Y-Day activities is the motorcycle "gymkhana." Lists will run the obstacle course to be set up in the dirt field of Heleman Halls at 1 p.m. Saturday. Cycle buffs can sign up at the Reception Area of the Wilkinson Center.

FIRE REFUSED

acceleration of the assembly tried when the Provo Fire Department vetoed the show's use of a major element in eight

s. Leaders in the Polynesian Club also claim that they were told and that their inquiries at assembly plans were denied around. Edmund Stagner, president last year, said that assembly was changed four times. Finally, when a dancer was checking with the ASBYU Culture Office for what he hoped would be final arrangements, it was established that the assembly had never been scheduled.

RED TAPE

Stagner attributed the miscommunication to "a combination of ASBYU red tape and indifference." Current club president, Mel Tano, said "a lot of the fault lies with us. We don't want to blame any particular person. We feel, however, that the character of Hawaiians has been challenged and that we have lost."

"If the university doesn't want us," continued Tano, "why don't they just tell us? But don't call us the night before and ask us to perform the next day for visitors who might give BYU a 6 million dollar ranch."

Eighty to ninety members of the Polynesian Club—haolils included—have been practicing weekly for the past 3 1/2 months. "All of the work we've done so far has just been really useless," lamented Isaac Kukahiko, a dance instructor for the performance.

"We have some people who came each week from Salt Lake to dance with us," Isaac stated.

Garnering the Best Assembly of the Year several times, the Polynesian Club this year received some 16 bids from outside concerns. "We turned them all down," signed Tano. "We said Polynesian Week takes precedence," he explained.

Along with the 200 pounds of flowers—to have been used for display throughout the week—the club was donated coconuts, pineapples, ferns and beads from families, friends and church members in Hawaii.

To accommodate this generosity, United Airlines granted the club 500 pounds of free flight space.

Hinckley Featured Tonight

"The Church and Brotherhood" is the topic for discussion by Elder Gordon B. Hinckley today at 7:30 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse as part of Brotherhood Week events.

Elder Hinckley, a member of the Council of the Twelve of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will also respond to student questions submitted to the Sophomore Class office, 424 Wilkinson Center, by 4 p.m. today.

Another major event today is the beginning of the clothing drive, which will aid residents of a poverty area in Mississippi.

Jon Ferguson, chairman of the drive, said he felt the drive was a way to "promote a worthwhile program through student government channels."

Bathie Stuart To Narrate Chinese Mainland Film

Inside Red China went Bathie Stuart—and she emerged to talk about it.

"Inside Red China" is also the title of the film Miss Stuart shot on the Chinese mainland. She will be at BYU to narrate her film today at 8 p.m. in the Joseph Smith Auditorium.

American film lecturers have been unable to get into Red China and so Miss Stuart's program is truly unique. She managed to travel behind the Bamboo Curtain twice on her British passport.

Miss Stuart saw and filmed such cities as Peking, Shanghai, Canton, Hang-Chow and Soochow on her 8,000 mile journey.

Miss Stuart originally got into Red China in a party of nine for a tour from Canton to Peking. But when the tour was over, she hired a car and a guide and struck out on her own.

She describes the country, except for the mountainous area, as "a huge garden." Living conditions in China have improved since her first visit there 30 years ago, she feels.

Miss Stuart says there are schools, clinics, hospitals and entertainment available to the Chinese. There are cars for the tourists, but the status symbol of Red China is a bicycle, she continues.

Included in the film is a revolutionary festival, "The East is Red," shot in Canton. More than 1,000 people participated in the pageant in traditional costumes, and an audience of 5,000 viewed the affair nightly.

Miss Stuart is a New Zealander. However, her working headquarters are in Hollywood, Calif.

Spiro Agnew At Y Today

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will be the featured speaker at today's forum assembly.

The Vice President will be making his first appearance in Utah since his election in November.

Those students who wish to see the Vice President but can not get into the Smith Fieldhouse may see a closed circuit broadcast of the speech in the de Jong Concert Hall of the Harris Fine Arts Center and the Joseph Smith Auditorium.

Audio coverage of the speech will be available in the Varsity Theater.

res. Brown Clarifies Civil Rights Policy

cause of recent complaints the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints hasn't taken a stand on civil rights, this statement is being printed. In behalf of the First Presidency, President Hugh B. Brown said on October 6, 1963: "During recent months, both in Lake City and across the United States, considerable interest has been expressed in the position of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on the matter of civil rights. We would like it to be known that there is in this Church no doctrine, belief or practice that tends to deny the enjoyment of civil rights by any person on the basis of race, color or creed."

At times, as we have said before, that we have seen that all men are the children of God, and that it is a moral evil for any person or group of persons to deny any human being the right to gainful employment, to full educational opportunity and to every privilege of citizenship, just as it is a moral evil to deny him the right to worship according to the dictates of his own conscience.

"We have consistently and persistently upheld the Constitution of the United States, and as far as we are concerned this means upholding the constitutional rights of every citizen of the United States."

"We call upon all men, everywhere, both within and outside the Church, to commit themselves to the establishment of full civil equality for all of God's children. Anything less than this defeats our high ideal of the brotherhood of man."

Caveat Emptor...

It's No Laughing Matter

Attention returned missionaries! Here's your chance for immediate employment! Sell something! Yes, you've all been selling people on Mormonism for the past couple of years, now you're ready to peddle pots and pans, scrapbooks, wedding trousseaus, encyclopedias, coupon books or anything else that some entrepreneur wants peddled. Now you're ready for the big time.

Yes, everyone makes money. We buy the items we are going to sell from a wholesale outlet, we triple the price we bought it for and send it on to you. When you get it, triple the price again, over what we sold it to you for. Don't sell it for this price, however, just quote this price as our "manufacturer's suggested retail price." Only double our price. You will still make a real killing.

Who's the pigeon? Why young, unmarried girls living off campus! You can really take them for a ride. As a matter of fact, take them for a ride down to your office. Never sell in the home if you can help it. Someone there might be more intelligent than the average doorknocker. Your sale could be ruined.

Stress the need for immediate signing of the contract. In Utah, contracts are binding as soon as they are signed. There is no 72-hour waiting period. Unlike most states, the consumer has no protections afforded along that line.

Eighteen year-old girls love to sign contracts. It makes them feel like they have finally become independent. Make sure you push the idea that they are old enough to make their own decisions. They like that idea. Tell them that you won't bring their parents into it. Besides giving them a sense of protection, it can also give you a sense of protection to know that the student will not go to debtor's prison without you having some rate paraffin fall thru brains out.

If you are married, make sure your wife has the guts and gumption to throw infuriated buyers off your property while you cower in the garage or coat closet. If you're not married but thinking about it, look for these qualities in a girl.

You can also attend our special course on sales techniques at our own plant. (If you sign up now, we'll give you a discount rate over the regular price of the course.)

Don't worry about the moral or religious conflicts with misrepresenting merchandise, coercing buyers, or forcing contracts to be signed under duress; there's always that fast meeting at the end of school year where all the salesmen repent. J.G.

Editor:

In reference to Mr. D'Arc's letter in the April 30th issue of the DAILY UNIVERSE, it is really surprising, as to what different people can see in a letter.

To understand why Mr. D'Arc considered my letter malicious may be possible, but why he should think it unethical to criticize President Wilkinson is absolutely beyond me. If I should criticize the Prophet of God, then, under the circumstances I would be unethical, however, President Wilkinson would be the first to admit that he makes mistakes. It would be good to remember that the society wherein it is unethical to criticize is that society called by the name "Communism."

Mr. D'Arc is right when he says, "It is no coincidence that BYU has been void of student riots..." and I personally feel that the SDS has little to offer us at BYU. I do feel though, that the fact that there are a great many good LDS here has more effect than any president's policy.

It may come as a surprise to Mr. D'Arc to find that his letter agreed with mine on one point. He states that once the chaos starts the communists come in. I think that this is entirely possible, however, if you will read my letter of April 24 you will see that I am talking of the "chaos" that gave the radicals their chance.

As to the idiot who wrote me a letter suggesting I leave BYU I say, I will, eventually, but never by the suggestion of someone too child to sign his real name.

Provo Town...

Money Business on the Road

By Pierre Hathaway

A couple of weeks ago the Universe took a trip to the desert of New Mexico on a grade-destroying mission to try to attend the Rocky Mountain Press Association convention.

At the business meeting of the convention it was interesting to note the philosophies and attitudes of the HATHAWAY student writers, editors and publishers.

If the meeting is typical I'm fed up with the procedures involved in formal discussions. Now I'm tolerant enough to see the other side of the coin. There was a faction at the convention apparently bent on using the name of student papers at the universities how to run their purpose seemed to include the "ruling of student papers in the Rocky Mountain Area."

Resolutions were presented espousing the censuring of the administrations of various umbrellas, sweaters, and jewelry turned in to the Lost and Found in the Y Center I assumed the rectangular sapphire set in a classical four-leaf clover setting which I either lost or which was taken from my locker in the women's locker room, would be turned in by the new possessor. I'm upset that it has been lost. I'm sorry that for a ring, not an expensive one at that, someone would be willing to suffer the consequences of dishonesty, and deny me the wearing of a very special gift from my parents.

If the present possessor wishes I'll gladly give the monetary value in exchange for its return, or buy a visibly identical in your size. Please phone 374-2924 if you do, or simply turn it to the Y Center Lost and Found. I'd hate to think of taking a guilty conscience home for the summer, because I'd possess the property of someone else. Nor would I like to know my dishonesty is depriving the rightful owner of a special gift.

FLAG-STOPS

Editor:

The letter by Kelly Allred concerning motorists stopping for the playing of the National Anthem was the worst display of childish sarcasm I have ever read.

I drive to school myself and therefore know how important those few minutes are to the motorist trying to get across all the crosswalks around campus, but I felt that the attitude of his letter was totally unnecessary.

I've grown up on Army bases around the world where the National Anthem is played every morning. I've seen five-year-old children who were fighting like cats and dogs, stop and stand at attention with their hands over their hearts until the flag had been completely lowered and then they would resume their battle. So I am sure that college "children" are capable of the same respect.

Also when the National Anthem is playing on any military base every motorist stops his car and gets completely out to stand at attention until the playing is over. So BYU motorists and students don't feel picked on, a little bit respect never hurt anybody.

Project Astronaut

Should Bible reading and prayers be banned from the heavens? Some people seem to think so.

Mrs. Madeline Murray, the self-avowed atheist who's court case has banned prayer in school, is now circulating a petition to condemn Apollo 8 astronauts for quoting the Bible as they orbited the moon last Christmas Eve.

To date she has been able to obtain some 5,000 names on her petition.

A counter group, called Project Astronaut, is also starting a petition. This petition is designed to endorse the three astronauts.

The organization will be collecting signatures on campus today in the JHR, McKay and West Patio of the ELWC.

The Project found its beginnings with Bill Mawdsford, Mawdsford is the Director of Communications of Family Radio in San Francisco.

The signed petitions will be taken from the various areas that they were obtained in San Francisco. Then he will take them personally to the NASA Headquarters.

He hopes to instigate a press conference when he reaches the NASA Center.

universities concerning the policies used in the publication of newspapers. One example of the "business" concerned a resolution to tell one university to open their books to the students. The law of the land required the U. school to open the books. This press association of students has no position moving to supplement the proper procedure of law.

So goes the life in the political realms of the world. As a final comment, it was refreshing to note the levelheadedness of the majority of the representatives at the convention. The "radical" elements presented after lunch a statement emotionally loaded expressing their lack of confidence in the delegates for their failure to respond to their wishes. The cry was loud but they were voted down 16 to 4.

The West is still wild and woolly. One of the wider spots is the Varsity Theater where Paul Newman is starring in "Hombre." Fat Hall mentioned she would miss a movie by Paul's.

I note with alacrity some of the con-artists operating in Provo. James Colburn is playing the part in "Dead Heat on a Merry Go Round." The Risk screen at the Weekend Movie.

Swashbucklers, arise to the defense of one Billy Budd! Billy's story is the current attraction of the University Cinema. If you haven't seen it, make an effort to check the scene.

The weekend screams "Y-Day." The New York Rock and Roll Ensemble are the performers in the concert Friday night in the Fieldhouse. Tickets are free in the Reception Area. If rock is your forte drop in around 8 p.m. for some grooving.

Saturday in the Fieldhouse Encore '69 will be on stage. Time is about 7 p.m. Check it.

When emotions flare at it. Encore '69, soothe those tin nerves with the well known panacea "Affection." Not to be misinterpreted I mean it.

"Affection Collection" will be playing for the rock dance in the Ballroom at 9:30 p.m.

DOUBLE SWITCH

Speaking of business dealings recall being down in one of the Mexican border towns with a friend bartering for tourist junk. My friend was getting nowhere. He said, "Paul's," and offered to flip for the difference. Seeing an opportunity I accepted, whereupon the Mexican produced a no-head-or-tail coin. My friend won the toss but lost the end as they had switch merchandise.

University Organizes Undergraduate Computer Science Department

New academic Department of Computer Science has been organized at BYU, effective immediately, offering a bachelor's degree as well as a minor. Assistant Ernest L. Wilkinson announced Wednesday.

Joining the new department are C. Edwin Dean, associate professor of computer science and acting chairman of the department at BYU. The department will teach the courses in computer science and will assist various departments in the university which require courses in computer science in their academic areas.

With more than 1,000 student enrollments spring semester, computer science courses are increasingly in demand, reports Prof. Dean. "At the present time, 30 credit hours in computer science are offered. This will be increased with the new departmental organization next year," he said.

BYU, housing one of the largest Computer Centers in the Intermountain West, is the third university in the state to organize a Department of Computer Science. The University of Utah has a graduate program, and both Utah State University and Weber State have small undergraduate programs. With nine instructors, the Department of Computer Science is fully organized in preparation for moving into the new computer science-mathematics building scheduled to be ready for occupancy by the fall of 1970.

The new building, to be located southwest of the Jesse Knight Building, will house the Computer Science, Mathematics, and Statistics departments; the Computer Center; and the Institutional Research Center.

Prof. Dean, who has been associated with computing since 1954, received a B.S. degree in physics in 1948 and an M.S. in mathematics in 1952 from BYU, and an M.S. in mathematical statistics from the University of Michigan in 1956. He has also completed some advanced study at the University of Michigan.

During the 1966-67 school year, Prof. Dean was an academic associate for IBM in San Jose Calif. He filled a mission to the Western States from 1941-43 for the LDS Church, was a navigational officer in the Army Air Corps from 1943-47, and was an instructor in mathematics at BYU from 1949 to 1959.

Business Aid Offered

Universe Columnist

You had a dispute with a local merchant, salesman or a local employer, where would you go for help? Your answer should be the Student Relations Office.

the fourth floor of the Wilkinson Center.

After only a few months of operation, the bureau already handles four to five complaints a day, according to Jim Ferguson, V.P. of Student Relations. The SRO operates out of the Student Relations Office. The man in charge of the service's operation is Scott Barrett.

Scott recommends that students contact the SRO before buying a car, before listening to salesmen of any kind or before doing business with any unfamiliar firm.

The bureau can tell you whether complaints have been registered against any business establishment before. They can also tell you whether or not local salesmen or merchants are thought to be reputable.

Students For Better Business are not only concerned with the negative side of business, but the organization also awards recognition to outstanding businessmen in the community as well.

WHO CARES ABOUT STUDENT OPINION? BUSINESSMEN DO.

Three chief executive officers—The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company's Chairman, Russell DeYoung, The Dow Chemical Company's President, H. D. Doan, and Motorola's Chairman, Robert W. Galvin—are responding to serious questions and viewpoints posed by students about business and its role in our changing society... and from their perspective as heads of major corporations are exchanging views through means of a campus Corporate Dialogue Program on specific issues raised by leading student spokesmen.

Here, Mark Bookspan, an Ohio State Chemistry major, who plans a medical career, is exploring issues with Mr. DeYoung.

In the course of the full Dialogue Program, David G. Clark, a Master of Arts candidate at Stanford University, also will explore issues with Mr. DeYoung, as will David M. Butler, Electrical Engineering, Michigan State, and Stan Chess, Journalism, Cornell, with Mr. Doan; similarly, Arthur M. Klebanoff, Government, Yale, and Arnold Shelby, Latin American Studies, Tulane, with Mr. Galvin.

These Dialogues will appear in this publication, and other campus newspapers across the country, throughout this academic year. Campus comments are invited, and should be forwarded to Mr. DeYoung, Goodyear, Akron, Ohio; Mr. Doan, Dow Chemical, Midland, Michigan; or Mr. Galvin, Motorola, Franklin Park, Illinois, as appropriate.

Mr. DeYoung:

Machines are in... People out... Net: Massive social disorientation

Dear Mr. DeYoung:

There is evidence that we of the mid-twentieth century are engaged in a social and economic revolution equal in magnitude and in impact to the industrial revolution of the mid-eighteenth century. Instead of hand tools giving way to power-driven machines, though, man-run machines are giving way to computer-run machines. Many phases of business and industry which once depended exclusively on human effort (e.g. accounting, quality control, purchase ordering, and even sales) are already showing the intrusion of computers. Someday, machine-computer-computer-machine complexes may eliminate most human participation in industry.

Such change will produce several significant results (they've already started):

1. The rapid decrease in need for unskilled and semi-skilled labor.
2. The ever accelerating need to retrain personnel to move from obsolete jobs to newly created ones.
3. The requirement that those frequent technological retraining periods be with full pay (i.e. elimination of a job should not produce unemployment).
4. The need for economic stability with nearly 100% of our labor force employed. (The need for 3%-5% unemployment is not directly evident.)
5. The increasing emphasis on service industries. As proportionately more people are involved in research, teaching, counseling, etc., our society will lose its production-consumption basis.

What are you, an American businessman, doing to avoid massive social disorientation, such as was experienced in nineteenth century England in the wake of the industrial revolution, as we shift to a service-oriented society? How will the excluded millions start to feel and to become a benefiting part of the changing society?

Yours truly,

Mark Bookspan

Mark Bookspan
Pre-Med, Ohio State

Dear Mr. Bookspan:

The fear that human beings will be made obsolete by machines, and the prospects of a resulting massive social disorientation, has prompted cries of alarm since the harnessing of steam power and the invention of the mechanical loom.

These traditional forebodings have become increasingly vocal in some quarters with the continuously wider applications of automation. As the litany goes: Automated machines controlled by computers are self-adjusting, repairing, and programming without human labor... can outperform any worker at the task undertaken, and likely outthink him as well. Inevitably more and more workers will be replaced with each progressively sophisticated generation of computer complexes, and unemployment will rise to crisis proportions.

Historically these fears have proven groundless, and there is no reasonable basis to conclude any catastrophic developments in the future with increased automation.

There is no end to the needs of human beings as they have more disposal income and more leisure time. Without automation, we would not have had the capacity to fulfill the demands of a constantly increasing standard of living.

As a matter of fact, while automation does cause displacement, it does not cause significant unemployment. Quite to the contrary, automation has created more jobs than it has destroyed. The development of the computer is a good example. Actually, there is greater employment now than would have been the case if the technological advances brought about by automation had not occurred.

This is illustrated by industry's experience during the ten-year period ending in 1965.

Approximately 58-million additional jobs were created, while some 50-million jobs were eliminated, leaving a net gain of 8-million positions. Significantly, technology in a large measure prompted the job gain, but was not the major cause of job losses. Rather this resulted more from increased wage rates occasioned by statute and agreements negotiated with unions, and for the most part affected unskilled jobs, as might be expected.

The displacement, or redeployment, of workers resulting from automation certainly is no cause for alarm. Quite frequently, people are released from lower-paying jobs and advance to better-paying positions, all brought about by automation. Most firms applying newly available technologies retrain and place their employees in new positions, and invariably experience the need for additional personnel as well. For the most part this means an upgrading of skills along with an increased income-earning potential, and expanded employment.

Compare the significant increase in the total work force of over 70-million, with average earnings of $2.50 per hour, to that of 83-million in 1955 whose hourly earnings averaged $2.00 (equivalent 1965 dollars). In other words, wage rates and employment both rose during a decade that witnessed considerable automated innovations.

Aside from these bare-bones statistical facts, the impact of automation is measurable in other terms; namely, the increasing release of man from down-to-dark drudgery. Through the utilization of machines in lieu of brute force to increase productivity, significantly greater numbers have been able to shift to exciting new occupations that mean for them larger incomes and fuller lives. A vast spectrum of new activities through increasing applications of automation is profoundly affecting our whole mode of life. The future potential is as great as man's imaginative intelligence can develop.

Sincerely,

Russell DeYoung

Rescues For Students

quarter of a million acres of eastern Utah desert became "laboratory" for three days last week as a dozen Brigham Young University outdoor magazine article writers studied the terrain and wrote stories on Capitol Reef National Monument.

Students of Herbert McLean, Jr., Relations editor and magazine writer, received hands-on experience in desert rescue. For the benefit of students a simulated rescue operation was conducted for a "woman and her daughter" by Wayne County Sheriff's posse.

CLASS MEMBER
search was real enough. Jean Rhodes of Provo, a member of the class, and her 10-year-old daughter, Susan, played the "lost" pair and were deposited in a colorful but remote canyon 60 miles from civilization at a spot unknown to posse members.

Playing their efficient search and rescue operations, the Jeep found the pair within a few minutes by tracking them in the pine-juniper forest.

MANY REAL CALLS

The officers, who have conducted several other real missions since organization of the posse in 1961, completed the "rescue" by carrying the "women" down a hill to a waiting ambulance. Bandages also were applied as part of the operation.

The posse also took the writers to the area 60 miles southeast of the Utah desert which was withdrawn by order from President Johnson. The men are encouraging the federal government to return the land to the state for continued mining and operations.

Three New Stake Presidents: Each Has Different Background

By Debi West
Universe Feature Writer

Take a long-time boy scout, a horse-loving, former "W" track star, and a Joseph Smith enthusiast who once dreamed of fame as a professional baseball player. Add years of maturation, marriage, and families. Blend in an overwhelming amount of missionary work, teaching experience, and youth guidance service.

BEATTLEY

You now have the makings for three new BYU stake presidents. Joseph T. Beattley, assistant administrator of Church schools, was recently sustained as the First Stake's new president. Born south of the border during the Mexican Revolution, he has served the world's youth as general superintendent of the Boy Scouts of America, MIA general superintendent, and general manager of the "Era." These duties sent Pres. Beattley around the world and acquainted him with the universal problems of teenagers. The "Era of Youth" is just one of his many contributions to their welfare.

"I think that BYU has a tremendous missionary responsibility," challenged Pres. Beattley. "Almost all stake board positions are filled by students. This gives them very good training in church leadership and procedures."

Carl D. Jones has taken up the reins of the new BYU Ninth Stake. Currently a Naval Reserve captain and director of BYU Housing, Pres. Jones has been an active church counselor, Standards Committee Chairman, and National Secretary of Aulcho, a national student housing organization.

JONES

His father in California "conventioning," Bob Jones honored him with these words: "My father left the prosperous business world to come to BYU so that he could work with young people. This brings him the greatest joy."

"A stake president really has many of the same problems as a bishop—morals, discipline, etc.—but on a larger scale," religion professor Ivan J. Barrett explained concerning his change over from 54th Ward bishop to Tenth Stake president.

Coming a long way since teaching boys in Sunday School, his first church position, Pres. Barrett collected valuable experience about life as he progressed from athlete to seminary teacher to stake high councilman to Northwest States mission president.

Centennial Set . . .

Golden Spike Spurs Nation

BYU students Saturday may harken to the call of traditional Y-Day festivities, but for the nation—especially the State of Utah—May 10 rings more historic bells.

Saturday marks the Golden Spike Centennial, when east and west were joined by rail 100 years ago at Promontory Point, Utah.

An estimated 15,000 persons are expected at the festivities, preparations for which have been under way almost since the 75th anniversary of the historic linkage.

Many are the tales told about the driving of the Golden Spike. One has it that railroad magnates Leland Stanford and T.C. Durant stood over the last rail, heartily pounding on the spike with a silver sledge. Another, more widely accepted account reports that the Golden Spike was simply dropped into place in an oversized hole of a California laurel tie.

The famous spike of gold is on display in the Gold Room of Utah's Capitol, following a trip to Sacramento, where it was on view in an earlier celebration.

Slated to reenact the driving of the Golden Spike on Saturday is the Box Elder County Golden Spike Association, a group which has turned in many similar performances since its formation in 1952.

Preceding the reenactment, the Centennial Exhibition Train will dedicate a new visitors' center at Promontory, which features life-size remnants of the century-old event.

President Hugh B. Brown, first counselor in the First Presidency of the LDS Church, will give the invocation. Music will be provided by the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, the Box Elder High School Band, the U.S. Army's 21st Infantry band and the Salt Lake City Tenth Ward LDS Band. Members of the Tenth Ward Band also provided music to drive spikes by 100 years ago.

In addition to a railroad symposium and a Centennial Dance Friday in the Salt Palace, the Centennial Exhibition Train will be parked in Salt Lake City (near South Temple and 3rd West) through Tuesday.

Today Is . . .

On this date in 1945, President Harry S. Truman announced the end of the war in Europe. He said in a broadcast: "The allied armies, through sacrifice and devotion and with God's help, have won from Germany a final and unconditional surrender."

In 1429, Joan of Arc lifted the English siege of Orleans.

In 1541, Spanish explorer Hernando de Soto discovered the Mississippi River—at a point near the present city of Memphis, Tenn.

In 1958, hostile demonstrators were abusive to then Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon during a goodwill visit to Lima, Peru.

Currently, May 8 marks the high point in National Guard Week.

SIX ROCKCHUCKS

... which won't be competing for this fall's hay crop. Rich Hess (left) and Bruno Vassel III shot the groundhogs in eastern Utah where a farmer asked for help in preserving his crops.

Utah Mountains, Farms Abound In Rockchucks

By Bruno Vassel III
Universe Sports Writer

It is not often possible to hunt desert or mountain sheep, mountain goats or antelope, but there is hunting offered in Utah which requires at least as much skill in stalking wary game, and in knowing trajectory, wind factors and ballistics. Any rockchuck hunter will understand.

While predator calling a month ago in eastern Utah, Paul Proctor, Rich Hess and I were asked by a local farmer if we would shoot some of the rockchucks which were feeding in his field.

Rockchucks, called groundhogs or yellow-bellied marmots, have yellowish-brown fur with a dark brown head and tail. They average about two-thirds the size of the eastern woodchuck, with large meaty muscles occasionally reaching 10-12 pounds.

Neither the rockchuck nor the eastern woodchuck is as large as their high-mountain cousin the hoary marmot or "whistler" which is a big, whitish rodent with black feet and tail and which often weighs 20-25 pounds.

As their name implies, rockchucks make their dens in rock piles or rocky cliffs. They like those areas which border on or are very near to green fields. It is estimated that four chucks will eat as much as a sheep.

LIVE IN COLONIES

Living in colonies of as many as 100-200 in a relatively small area, rockchucks—after hibernating through the winter—begin to appear at mid-March. By April there are good numbers of them out, and May is usually the height of the season. Once it gets too hot, the rockchucks tend to remain in their dens.

Before going further it would be good to mention that many rockchucks have ticks which carry Rocky Mountain spotted fever, so handle the chucks with care.

Although we have made some good shots at 250-400 paces while using a 4X scope, real varmint enthusiasts would do much better with scopes of 8X or more. Such target-type scopes as the 153 Unertl are not uncommon.

You can use 90-120 grain loaded bullets in such rifles as a .264 magnum, .270, 30/06, 308 and others. I have had excellent results with my .270, but all of these rifles are not really ideal.

NO DEER RIFLES

Deer rifles often cause people to yank triggers due to recoil, and some rifles have quite bit of a mid-range trajectory. Remember that unlike shooting at a deer, a inch or two off at 200 yards means a miss with rockchucks.

The .222 magnum, .25/06, 220 Swift, .22/250 and many other varmint rifles using bullets of about 55 grains have much less recoil, less noise and flatter trajectory than most deer rifles.

Many canyons and mountain meadows in Utah have rockchucks, and most farmers are more than willing to give you permission to shoot on their property. The lava bluffs at southeastern Idaho are also famous for chucks.

While hunting last Saturday in central Utah we had several shots at rockchucks at an estimate 500-550 yards. Since there was a slight breeze I aimed two body lengths high and about two feet to the right—into the wind. The 100 grain Speer bullet from my .270 hit at about the right height but three feet to the LEFT of the rockchuck. Though a heavy bullet would drift less, wind is still very significant to the rockchucker.

Swim Meet

The spring semester swim meet will be tonight at 6 p.m. in the RR Richards P.E. Bldg. Sign-ups will take place at pool side just prior to the meet.

Friday, May 16, is the date for the co-ed golf tournament. Participants must register by May 13.

Home Season Ends, Cats Gain Split

By Bob Oakley
Universe Sports Writer

When Glen Tuckett's baseball team ended their home season by losing a twinnish with College of Southern Utah dropping the series 3-2 and snaring the top 10-4.

Coming off a 1-0 victory against Utah's Dick Hardy, held the bats to five hits. Larry Knosp picked up two hits and Sanford got two doubles to lead for most of the BYU hits. Easton pitched the first game and held CSU to one run and one unearned run. Meyering came on in the third and finished the game. He pitched with the loss, making the record 2-6 on the season.

Knosp started on the mound for the Cougars in the second game and went four innings. Dennis DuNann finished the game. Rocky gave up three runs and was credited with the loss. His record 1-0. All bats opened up early with runs in the first inning. Mike Knosp singled to start things off and was followed by a double by Lee Berge. Tom Tikker then singled to load the bases. An infield hit by Bob Appleby forced Knosp at the plate. Rocky Brown then singled to score two runs. Butch Fairbanks hit a sacrifice fly to score Appleby.

The Cats again exploded for four more runs in their half of the third. Dane Iorg reached on an error and was moved to second by a Knosp one-base hit. Berge cracked a single to score Iorg. Tom Tikker then doubled to score Knosp and Terry Sanford followed with a single that chased the third and fourth run across.

CSU got two runs in the fourth as they put together three hits and a walk to score.

In the fifth frame the Cougars came back with two more runs on solo homers by Berge and Tikker.

In the sixth the Cats scored their final run on a walk to DuNann, single by Fairbanks and a sacrifice fly by Romney that the CSU leftfielder couldn't handle.

Zinniger Designated Top Athlete

By Bob Hudson
Universe Sports Writer
Richard Zinniger is a senior in industrial education from Encinitas, Calif., and one of the major keys to the success of the 1969 baseball team.

Zinny, as he is affectionately known to his teammates, has a 10-0 record and a glistening 2.16 ERA. He is well on the way to becoming the best pitcher, ever had.

He attended San Diego State High School where he participated in basketball and baseball. He lettered with the varsity hoop squad two years and with the horsehiders three. All-league honors were his all three years of his baseball career and his senior year in basketball.

Rich chose to attend Palomar Junior College after his high school days were over and compiled a respectable record there, too. He was selected All-conference both years.

Zin stated that his greatest baseball thrill was playing in the city-county all-star game in San Diego. He started the tilt and did a very good job during his stint on the hill.

Summer ball has played a part in the stocky hurler's life. He participated with the La Mesa Collegians two years and then last summer joined the staff of the Humboldt Crabs from Eureka, Calif. The Crabs went to the national amateur baseball tournament and placed third.

Zin hopes to play professional baseball after his collegiate career is over. He would likely be a great catch for any major league team.

Orchestra-Choir Concert Today

Today the Utah Valley Symphony Orchestra will be featured in concert with the BYU Oratorio Choir at 8:15 p.m. in the de Jong Concert Hall.

Prof. John R. Halliday, director of the Oratorio Choir, will conduct the program.

The program will open with Johannes Brahms' "Triumphal Hymn." This choral number is set to a text from the Book of Revelations, Chapter XIX, "Hallelujah! Praise the Lord, Honour and power and glory to God." Baritone Clayne Robison will be soloist, with Terry Peterson and Ron Staheli at the piano.

Howard Hanson's "Lament for Beowulf" featuring combined chorus and orchestra will be the evening's second selection. The text for this work is a translation of the Anglo-Saxon saga of Beowulf, probably written during the eighth century A.D.

The chorus will tell how Beowulf slays the half-human monster Grendel who was threatening his uncle's people. The young hero returns home where he is crowned king and rules for fifty years until the people are threatened again by a Dragon.

Beowulf is finally mortally wounded by the Dragon and the chorus ends with a funeral lament and praise to the hero. The music is primitive and atonal, much like 10th century organum.

Franz Schubert's "Omni-potence" features a vivid text of praise to the Lord, Jehovah. The orchestration to this highly descriptive piece was done by Franz Liszt.

The Oratorio Choir and Utah Valley Symphony Orchestra will conclude with Rimsky-Korsakov's "Russian Easter Overture." This piece which is dedicated to Moussorgsky and Borodin, is based on themes of the Russian Orthodox Church service.

First organized in 1961, the BYU Oratorio Choir now has some 120 members. Dr. Halliday is an alumnus of BYU and received his Ph.D. from the Eastman School of Music.

Ancient Harpsichord Debuts

One of the world's finest harpsichords has been obtained by the BYU Music Department.

The double-manual, eight-foot long, walnut-finished beauty arrived air-freight from Germany in perfect condition and now awaits its concert debut under the attentive care of piano-organ technician Lynn Hansen.

The first public appearance of the new harpsichord will be on Saturday, at 8:15 p.m. in the Madson Recital Hall. Sharon Simms Hinkley, an alumnus of BYU and currently of Colorado Springs, will present the debut recital.

Constructed by the J.S. Neupert

Company of Bamberg in Nuremberg, Germany, this model explains Prof. Homer Wakefield, BYU coordinator of ancient instruments, is one of the finest instruments built.

Pattered after one of Bach's favorite instruments, the harpsichord has four separate sets of strings which are controlled by four of the five pedals. The fifth pedal controls the coupler which unites the two keyboards.

Another unique feature is a stop which can be used on all sets of strings. This stop puts a damper against the stopped set strings, creating a sound much like that of a plucked gut-string heard on a lute or guitar.

clock on the wall said 7:00. By one the dancers arrived wearing their make-up and costumes and carefully their stage make-up. The girls drew too dark or old lines and had to reapply again. Other girls pulled their hair away from their heads onto the top of their heads.

Dancers in the ballet were expected to put on their shoes and meet behind stage to complete run-through of the performance.

Stage, scenery was moved and dancers as well as members paced back and forth. Some dancers practiced steps while others stood in groups discussing lines or complaining about itching muscles and feet.

A lady working the lights and around with plugs and wires as she adjusted them at proper angles. Finally the lights were moved in with the music was ready to play and the dancers took their places. A final check was made to see if anyone was completely ready to begin. Then, a last rehearsal "Break a Leg," and the concert music began.

Weeks now, the Ballet has been practicing for their performance.

The Spring Concert is today, Friday and Saturday in 185 Richards P.E. Tickets are available free activity card in the ticket booth at the Smith Fieldhouse.

The ballet will be performed, "Danse" by Caroline sky uses colorful costumes modern technique to show precision dancing as well as soft and graceful movement.

Andrea Watkins choreographed "The History of Ballet." This relates the history behind many of the great dancers of the past.

The religious and romantic ballet choreographed by Sandra Allen, tells the story about two young lovers who meet and marry on earth. War and death take their lives but they are both united in the end.

It is very difficult to understand and imagine a ballet performance just by reading about it. One must see a ballet to appreciate all the beauty and work that it entails.

This week-end a hush will settle over the intimate theater in the Richards P.E. Bldg.

Art Exhibition Through May Shows Turner

An exhibition of paintings by Glen H. Turner, professor of art at BYU, will be on display at the Harris Fine Arts Center during the month of May.

Most of these pictures have not been exhibited previously and represent work done by Prof. Turner while on sabbatical leave from the university during the fall semester of 1968.

The display includes water colors, oils and drawings. Prof. Turner painted scenes in California, Nevada, Colorado and Utah, with emphasis on the brilliance and warmth of color of autumn.

Prof. Turner has been involved in art all of his life. He painted his first oil paintings at the age of ten when he accompanied his mother to a summer school art class at Aspen Grove.

Debate Team ...

Another Sweepstakes Trophy

BYU's debate team ended another successful season by winning the Sweepstakes trophy for the top performance at the Big Sky Invitational Debate Tournament held at the University of Montana.

In competition with 31 other colleges and universities, the debaters amassed 45 sweepstakes points compared to 23 for second place, Montana State.

Leading the BYU contingent were debate teams, Richard Ochoa and Craig Bell; Garland

Dennett and Dave Paxman, who tied for first place in junior division debate; Allan Fletcher and Coleen Coll took fifth place in the same division. In senior division debate, Gary Hunter and Dale Lambert placed third.

The team also placed high in speaking events. Tim Hegstrom was awarded second place in expository speaking, Garland Dennett and Richard Ochoa placed second and third respectively in interpretative reading. Gary Hunter and Alan Fletcher were finalists in impromptu speaking.

This tournament capped off another successful year for the forensic team. Earlier in the year, the team picked up the highly prized sweepstakes trophy at the Western States Speech Association Tournament.

This spring the team of Dale Lambert and Gary Hunter debated their way to first place at the Loyola of Chicago National Invitational Debate Tournament.

Former ASBYU President Gets Attorney General Assistantship

R. Richard Rolapp, former BYU student body president, has recently been appointed Special Assistant to the Deputy Attorney General of the United States.

The announcement was made by U.S. Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

Mr. Rolapp received his B.S. cum laude from BYU in 1964. He obtained his bachelors of law degree from Harvard Law School in 1967.

During the recent inauguration, Richard served as Associate General Counsel to the Inaugural Committee for the Nixon-Agnew Inaugural.

He served as a missionary in the Eastern States Mission in 1960-62. He is presently a seminary instructor in the Silver Spring Ward, Washington Stake in Washington, D.C.

Before his appointment, Richard was a lawyer in the firm of Wilkinson, Cragun & Barker in Washington, D.C. He also served as special counsel to the 1968 Nixon campaign.

TB Eradication . . .

Screening Advocated

BYU's Student Health Center has attempted this semester to carry out a TB screening and eradication program. Thanks to about 4000 students the program has not been a complete success.

These 4000 students are those who have failed for one reason or another to have their TB test read and recorded by someone at the Health Center.

Not only could this negligence prove injurious to their health but it could well affect the health of many of BYU's other 21,000 students.

From the group of students that have reported thus far, 39% have been found to be positive reactors which means, according to the latest scientific research, that they are carriers of the disease.

These persons have been placed on a chemical therapy treatment to rid their bodies of the TB organisms.

It has been shown that, unless treated, one in thirty who have positive reaction will eventually develop an active case of tuberculosis.

The Health Center is equipped to treat positive reactors and now urging all who have not been checked to do so before the end of school.

Utahn Picked As Week's Student

Byron Goodrich, this week Student of the Week, is a young man who knows what he wants and is quietly pursuing his plan.

Born and raised on a farm in Vernal, Utah, Byron is now enrolled in the pre-dent program, though he plans to return to the farm to raise a family.

Dentistry is only a means to end for the Vernal junior and the end is partially to purchase his own farm.

"I feel the farm is the best place to raise a family," Byron explained. "There I can teach my children anything from religion to the academics without leaving all up to the schools and others."

Byron feels that his responsibility is to train himself spiritually so as to better teach his family later.

For his sense of values, quiet strength and responsibility Byron was selected as the Student of the Week.

Y Names Standout

Idaho has captured the Associated Women Student's Y-Standout award for the second straight month.

April's Y-Standout is Kathy Jergensen, a junior from St. Anthony, Idaho.

Sporting a perfect 4.0 GPA in high school and a present 3.69 GPA,

Kathy is JERGENSEN majoring in home economics education.

She formerly attended Ricks College where she was the attendant to the "Woman of the Year."

Also while at Ricks, she was nominated to "Who's Who Among Students in America's Junior Colleges" and was a charter member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Kathy is now engaged to marry Steve Bankhead this fall, but she will continue her education at BYU at the same time.

In receiving her award, she was cited for her unspoiled and natural attitude despite all her activities in church and school affairs.

Hyrum Andrus Speaks

"The Divine Patriarchal Order in Ancient and Modern Times" is the topic of BYU's Graduate Religion Lecture Series today at 8 p.m. in the Joseph Smith Banquet Hall.

Speaking will be Professor Hyrum Andrus, who will explain the concept and history of the divine patriarchal order with particular reference to the restoration of the gospel.

A professor of modern scripture, Dr. Andrus has published a number of books and articles for the LDS Church audience. Among them are

"Joseph Smith and World Government," "Joseph Smith, the Man and the Seer," "Liberalism, Conservatism and Mormonism," and "Doctrinal Commentary on the Pearl of Great Price."

The director of the Women's Army Corps (WAC), Col. Elizabeth B. Hoisington, and the Sixth Army chief nurse, Col. Ailhea E. Williams, will speak to women students at BYU, Thursday at 2:15 p.m. in 321 Wilkinson Center.

Executive Lecture Set

Dr. Sergio Pizzoni-Ardemani, special assistant to the president of the Olivetti-Underwood Corporation, will be guest speaker at BYU's Executive Lecture Series, Thursday.

Since 1961, Dr. Pizzoni-Ardemani has served a special assistant and has traveled widely representing Olivetti-Underwood to the public. During that time he has seen recovery of the near-extinct Olivetti-Underwood Corporation into an expanded, thriving concern.

The public is invited to the lecture which begins at 4:10 p.m. in the Joseph Smith Auditorium.

Attention All 1969 Graduates

Congratulations on this fine achievement! If you are thinking about automobiles, may we suggest that you don't buy a car unless you can afford one and then BUY ONLY WHAT YOU CAN AFFORD. If you have decided upon an employer and will require transportation, we sincerely believe your best buy is a brand new 1969 Volkswagen because:

1. Financing: A bank loan can be arranged for entire purchase price. First monthly payment due in July.
2. Fun Car: The 1969 VW is the best ever and is a real pleasure to own and drive.
3. Economy: Low original cost, highest resale value, 24,000 mile written warranty, extremely low operating costs.

So please come in, try out a VW, and talk over your car needs.
